JANE'S

FAMILY

The Gaelic name which is now most commonly found in English as TIERNEY was O'Tighearnaigh. In Gaelic the word "tighearna" means "lord". and "tighearnach" means "lordly". O'Tighearnaigh means "the descendant of the lordly person".

The family traces descent back to Eochaidh Muigmheadhoin, 124th Milesian King of Ireland in the 4th century and ancestor of Uia Nialls. Three distinct septs are found in ancient genealogies. We may classify them as (i) the TIERNEYS of Fermanagh, (ii) the TIERNEYS of Mayo, and (iii) the TIERNEYS of Westmeath.

The Fermanagh TIERNEYS belong to Cineal Eoghain, being descended from Eoghan, Son of Niall of the Nine Hostages, the founder of the northern Uia Niall race. They were kinsmen of the O'Neills of Tyrone. These were chiefs of Fermanagh, and from this district members of the family spread northward to County Donegal.

The Galway sept of TIERNEYS have a common ancestor in Fiachra, the brother of Niall of the Nine Hostages and founder of the Ui Fiachrach race, to which many of the Connacht families belong. These TIERNEYS were lords of Carra in County Mayo. Over the centuries members of this branch spread into Counties Galway, Clare, Limerick and Tipperary.

The TIERNEYS of Westmeath belong to the Southern Ui Niall race who likewise had a common ancestor in Niall of the Nine Hostages.

The sept which appears most often in Irish annals in the numbers of celebrated men was the TIERNEYS of Carra. Florence O'Tierney was Bishop of Kilfenora in 1273. An O'Tierney monument in St. Nicholas' Church, Galway dates back to 1580 A.D. Another TIERNEY chieftain who was attainted for hie loyalty to King James after the defeat of the Stuarts in 1691 was likewise from Galway. The famous orator, politician and colleague of Burke and Fox in the English Parliament. George Tierney (1761-1830), was the son of a Limerick man as were also Sir Matthew Tierney (1776-1845) and Sir Edward Tierney (1780-1856).

In the United States, Most Reverend Michael Tierney (1842-1908) was Bishop of Hartford, Connecticut, from 1894-1904. Father Richard Henry Tierney (1870-1928) was a noted editor of "America". In our own time, Doctor Michael Tierney, A Galway man, is President of the National University in Dublin.

What is a "Coat of Arms"?

From the earliest times it was customary for warrior chieftains to display on the battlefield some emblem distinctive of themselves or of their family or tribe. These insignia were usually arbitrary, changeable at the whim or will of the chief; they were not necessarily symbolic nor were they always hereditary.

However, the introduction of armor in the twelfth century made the bearing of such definite distinguishing marks a military necessity. Since the helmet usually covered the face, and the body was encased in armor, it became essential for the knight to wear on his shield some appropriate colors or markings by which in the melee of battle he might be plainly recognized by friend and foe alike. During a campaign or at the tournament these differentiating emblems often appeared also on the helmet crest and the lance pennon as well as on the shield. Hence the entire device was referred to as a "crest". Regularly they were woven into the surcoat, a garment worn over the armor on ceremonial occasions, and at times to protect the armor and its wearer from the blazing heat of the sun. This practice gave rise to the term, "coat of arms".

When the knight appeared in full panoply at a tournament, an official called a herald, announced to the spectators his identity and usually described for them his insignia. This identification was called "blazoning the arms". In time the whole art of identifying the arms, the interpretation and application of the rules and customs that governed the adoption, designing and registration of armorial bearings came to be called "heraldry".

Certain heraldic devices, when originally chosen by their wearers, were meant to symbolize some attribute associated with the knight or the family. For the most part, however, the original meanings of the symbols have been lost. In the vast majority of cases, the designs appearing on coats of arms were chosen merely as differentiating marks, and carry with them no special significance, historical or other. At the present time, the interpretation, if any is attempted or given by authorities, is at best traditional.

Your family crest, however, is more than an interesting memorial of a colorful past. It enshrines something of the best traditions on which our civilization is built, and, even in our matter-of-fact day, can provide an incentive to preserve our heritage.

My Jesus have mercy on the Soul of

JOSEPH J. BALVIN

1891 - 1978

died Dec. 6

O gentlest heart of Jesus, ever present in the Blessed Sacrament, ever consumed with burning love for the poor captive souls, have mercy on the soul of Thy departed servant. Be not severe in Thy judgment but let some drops of Thy Precious Blood fall upon the devouring flames, and do Thou O Merciful Saviour, send Thy Angels to conduct Thy departed servant to a place of refreshment, light and peace. Amen.

May the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

Merciful Jesus grant eternal rest.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

THE LORD IS MY SHEPHERD; I SHALL NOT WANT.
HE MAKETH ME TO LIE DOWN IN GREEN PASTURES:
HE LEADETH ME BESIDE THE STILL WATERS.
HE RESTORETH MY SOUL: HE LEADETH ME IN THE PATHS OF RIGHTEOUSNESS FOR HIS NAME'S SAKE..
YEA, THOUGH I WALK THROUGH THE VALLEY OF
THE SHADOW OF DEATH, I WILL FEAR NO EVIL:
FOR THOU ART WITH ME; THY ROD AND THY STAFF
THEY COMFORT ME. THOU PREPAREST A TABLE
BEFORE ME IN THE PRESENCE OF MINE ENEMIES:
THOU ANOINTEST MY HEAD WITH OIL; MY CUP
RUNNETH OVER.. SURELY GOODNESS AND MERCY SHALL FOLLOW ME ALL THE DAYS
OF MY LIFE: AND I WILL DWELL IN THE HOUSE OF THE LORD FOR EVER.....
